PROJECT SUMMARY

LANGUAGES

OneFlo :-

OneFlo and OneFlo Connector is a finance product designed to empower bank channel partners, including connectors and direct sales agents, by facilitating connections with major banks and BFCs. This application allows users to track the status of customer cases and payouts in real-time, enabling efficient loan processing with the assistance of bank and third-party agents. Users can manage loans, EMLs, payments, and KYC information seamlessly. With the OneFlo Finance Product app, you can work online from anywhere at any time, receive real-time updates on cases and payouts, discover new products and offers from leading lenders in India, and access a comprehensive dashboard to monitor performance. My responsibilities include creating and executing detailed test cases, capturing videos and screenshots for documentation, conducting regression testing post-issue resolution, and evaluating both web and mobile applications on iOS and Android. Additionally, I participate in daily meetings with the project manager to discuss new features and the overall testing status.

Wegodoo :-

WeGoDoo is a cloud-based task management application available on web, Android, and iOS, offering users features like task creation, monitoring, prioritization, and scheduling in its free version. The paid version enhances team collaboration with roles for team leaders and members, a reporting dashboard, and a list of pending assignments. Responsibilities include creating and executing test cases, conducting functional, user acceptance, and UI testing, documenting and reporting bugs in Trello and participating in daily meetings with the project manager and client to discuss critical issues and testing status.
