Highlights

- After my 12th class, I started with freelance digital marketing services. When covid hit I lost my clients, then I joined for two jobs; one in a digital marketing agency and another producer of a YouTube channel. With these jobs, I managed to save up ₹1.5 lacs as my trading capital.
- I always had an interest in the stock market but I thought day trading was a very difficult task, but when Bitcoin touched hit $60K ATH, I started to learn more and more about technical analysis.
- My major learning has come from YouTube and the courses by the YouTube gurus
- I have a very strong hold on Support & resistance, Trendlines, Chart patterns & candlestick patterns
- I always plan my trade on the previous day and then trade my plan.
- I have three trades a day rule and if the first two trades get stopped out then I close the terminal.
- I have developed my psychology & mindset to a great extent. Now I can sit idle, comfortably while waiting for MY setup to come & my risks are always defined beforehand.
- I very well understand the usage & downsides of indicators like RSI, MACD, Pivot Points, etc
- I still have a very learning attitude, I keep looking forward to learning from traders experience
- I have sound knowledge of the F&O markets
- Sound ability to facilitate quick decisions
- Proficient with Microsoft Office application suites
- I have good sales skills too
- Currently, I am paper trading to test the strategies learned from the internet
