Name: Human activity Recognition using Deep Learning.

Languages: Python

Domain: Data Science, Deep Learning

Tools: Tensorflow, Matplotlib

Description: Human activity prediction is an interesting problem with a wide variety of application like intelligent virtual assistants, contextual marking, etc. One formation of this problem is jointly predicting human activities (viz. walking, standing, etc.) with associated durations. Here a deep learning system is proposed for this problem. Given a sequence of past activities and durations. Long-Short Term Memory (/LSTM) networks are developed that cater to different about assumptions about the data and achieve different modeling complexities and prediction accuracies.
